HEW sets price tag on Bay integration

Integration of white and colored facilities and abolition of Valera C. Jones as a "blitz" school were given as the price of the Department of Health, Education and Welfare requires of the Bay St. Louis Municipal Separate School District in order for the school system to continue to receive federal funds, other than the teacher program.

This was the gist of the two-hour meeting last Thursday night of the trustees of the school district and H. A. Bohannon and H. L. Davis, field representatives for HEW in Atlanta.

Bohannon, who did most of the talking for HEW officials, started off by stating that the freedom of choice plan, whereby white and negro children alike are allowed to designate the school they wish to attend and voted on the school officials to comply with the law, had proved inadequate in eliminating the dual school system here. While承认 that he and the school trustees might be looking at the problem "from different sides of the coin", Bohannon claimed the "whole business is defiance".

Davis pointed out that the federal hearing officer had found the local school system in non-compliance with HEW requirements and called the trustees of no to question of whether the school officials had done anything since learning earlier this year of the hearing officer's decision that the facilities were segregated. He also pointed to the segregated facilities and buses. The HEW field agents were firm that "freedom of choice" had not accomplished integration here and that anything short of that would be unacceptable to HEW.

Stating that he was not an educator or sufficiently familiar with the local scene, Bohannon said he was not prepared, at this time, to make recommendations, but he did point out that no effort had been made to integrate the facilities in white and colored systems and that "grouping" of schools or re-arranging might accomplish HEW's goals but "if a plan does not work to accomplish a unitary option in practice" it is not acceptable to HEW.

He also advised the board that within five working days after a new plan reached him, which might mean 18 or 20 days, he would advise if it would be acceptable. A ruling of acceptable was usually made in expected by their May 16 meeting.

CANCEL MEET

The Newcomer Club has cancelled its May 8 meeting because of work on its benefit luncheon May 22. Tickets are available from Mrs. W. R. Schuster at 467-4854.

THE NOWCOMER CLUB has been vice president of the Merchants Bank since 1966. A native of Oldham, he has 13 years experience in banking and was an officer of the Bank of Wiggins from 1961 to 1966.

Hamilton recalled his association with Springer in court banking circles a number of years ago and is pleased with the staff addition. This will enable Richard Matheny, vice president and cashier, to expand his supervision at the Bay St. Louis, Waveland and Gulfport offices.

Springer, 38, and his wife, the former Lucille Bond of Wiggins, and their two children will occupy a home on Whipping Pines Drive. He is a Lion and was a disbursing clerk in the Navy from 1948 to 1954.

He will attend second year classes at the School of Banking of the South at Baton Rouge later in May.

W.R. Springer has been elected a vice president of Merchants Bank and Trust Co. and will assume his new duties in the main office in Bay St. Louis on Monday, Dec. 1, 1968.

The mayor and City Clerk J. Cyril Glover said they hope to complete canvass of the petitions by Monday so the number of streets and scope of improvements can be determined and work can proceed. They estimate construction will begin in July or early August.

"I'm very encouraged by the results of the hearing Friday and what has developed since," Mayor Scalfido declared. "Obviously the vast majority of property owners are interested in and desire those improvements to be made."

The 19 streets assured of paving because no protests were filed are: Agate Street, Bovary Drive, Bayou Drive, Blue Meadow Road between U.S. 90 and Pines, Burnett, City Park Avenue, Commissary Blvd., Dogwood Road, Engman Avenue, Fox Drive, Harrison Court, Parading Point Drive, Leopold Street, Marti Street, Melody Lane, Rampart Street, Ranch Street, Hancock Avenue from 90 to Dunbar, and Carroll from 90 to Dunbar.

City Hall doesn't know officially yet what streets are out but on the basis of property owners' protests they appear to be:

JAYCEES RECOMMEND

AND ENCOURAGE Bay St.
Louis residents to seriously consider enrolling in the coming Dale Carnegie Course.

Mr. Ginn said, "If you don't express your opinion in public affairs, you don't have one.
It is important," he remarked. "Unless you develop more skill in the science and art of expressing your ideas, very few real opportunities will come your way. He is absolutely convinced, that the Dale

Carnegie Course will enable a person to get this ideas across better, make them more clearly understood, thus eliminating many human relation problems and misunderstandings.

Mr. Ginn clearly points out that in 14 weeks, a person can say what he wants in a clearly and forcefully, clear up before large or small groups of people, think clearly and enjoy doing it."

There must be a reason,
he said, that over 1 million people have taken the Dale Carnegie training throughout the United States, Canada, and 36 foreign nations. Unless you can sell yourself and your ideas, nobody will listen. It is the more important to speak, than it is to talk, he added. "I've listened to a lot of people talk, but never heard what they were trying to say. They did not know how to get their ideas over. This ability changes the "also-ran" to a champion."

Everyone is cordially invited to attend the free preview meeting to be held at Webb Community Center on May 26th at 7:00 p. m.

Let's all grow for a better community. We need good

Yards are '68 status symbol

It is with a large amount of pride that we note despite certain inconveniences, and we've vowed not to mention the dust and maybe it'll just go away, just about everyone in town is keeping up the program begun when residents prepared for the annual Bay-Waveland Garden Club pilgrimage. More and more homes are getting chimney paint jobs and yards appear to be more neatly kept than ever before. All of this thanks to particular drive, just plain civic interest, which is certainly a step in the right direction. In Lynchburg, Va., just such a project is proving successful. It's an organized effort to keep that city beautiful, yet we seem to be getting the same effect in Hancock County just because the people want their homes, lawns and places of business to appear attractive. One local businessman had his building painted and it wasn't long before customers began kidding him saying that obviously profits must be increasing, and sure enough they began to do just that, immediately after the "face lifting" was completed.

Yards are '68 status symbol

And never before have we noticed so many people working on their lawns. Flower and vegetable gardens have become sort of a '68 status symbol, and even as much as your report to date. Daylight Saving Time, we are looking forward to the extra hour of light in which to make the daily tour of our own and neighboring gardens.

Before we leave the yard topic, we'd best mention once again the fact that your power mower, a real work saver for the do-it-yourself grass cutter, can also turn into lethal weapon. Recalling a gory write-up of the description of a New Orleans woman when the blades broke off of a mower being operated by a neighbor, we shudder every time we see a tiny tiny trailing in paper's wake as we operate the mower. Mark Salomon called this to our attention last week. He reported striking a small piece of gravel with his mower and at the speed of a bullet, the projectile flew across the street, through a carport, hitting the house and ricocheting about 30 feet back into his own yard. Fortunately no one was in range at the time, but Mark was so "shook" after the episode that he took time to let us that we remain readers of the potential danger when anyone stands near a running power mower.

Weekend visitors galore

We have no idea where all the weekend people came from but traffic seemed up and down the beach all Saturday and Sunday. Some must have come over for the St. Clare's Parish Hall dance because there were even more new faces in evidence than at any before.

And of course, there were those who just absolutely never miss one of these affairs, Ann and Henry Dovells, Phil and Jimmy Laguarda, Linda and Tommy Kidd, Marge and John Anderson, Martin and Russell Elliott, Betty and Frank Kohn, Pat and Larry Galtis, Gloria and Rod Reimels, Anna and Gilbert Gysel, Jay and Sami Shyan, Dot and Morris Markel, Orr May and Giselle Hartley, Naomi and Hack Doyle, Norm and Harold Zimmerman, Beulah and Sidney Bourgeois, Betty and Donald Dorn and Jean and Alvin Bernard. Also Claire and Chet Gossips, who celebrated Claire's birthday at the church, and Lucy and Don Bohan, Don arriving home from Mandeville just in time to bathe, dress and arrive at the parish hall at 8 p.m.

A bundle from Don

Lucy says she isn't usually surprised by Don's gifts, after he once brought a huge bunch of roses for their dog, and on another occasion, carried a rather large outdoor drinking fountain, but the five foot plant shattered over her "head." She's still wondering how he got the plant with the twigs and branches, almost like sticks. He also carried a large Mountain man pot and a lovely gold coin bracelet.

Boldest happy birthday greetings go to "Coach" Zemond, a 1967 graduate of York who now resides at Gulfview Haven. He sent his 68th card on Monday, April 21. Patricia and Joey Smith also celebrated birthday last week. Patricia was nine on Sunday, April 20, and Joey, 11 Thursday, the 25th.

Tender moment

Mrs. Gerald Cox, nee Margot, in Cox on a Hot Tin Roof, has expressed her love for her husband, Brick, being played by Andre Armand, as Big Daddy, Phillip Anderson, and Big Mama, Mrs. Frank Kiefer, round out scenes from Bay St. Louis Little Theater's next production. Scheduled for staging over two weekends in mid-May, play is being directed by Mrs. T.L. Dickerson. It won Pulitzer Prize and Drama Critics award for author, Tennessee Williams.

Trio inducted to 4th dogtroo from Bay unit

Jerome Carter, George Hammer and E.S. Holcomb of Pore lo Da Council 1922, Knights of Columbus, were among 40 candidates from assemblies in the state received into the Fourth Degree recently at a complimentation ceremony in Gulfport.

The class was named for Sir Knight L.A. Keenan, state deputy and former master.

Exemplification was directed by Mississippi Master Fritz J. Oberleit and Bishop Gunn General Superintendent of Knights of Columbus, John S. Cabibi, faithful navigator.

Attendance from here were A.R. Martindale, Dr. A.K. Martindale, Jr., Norton Henn, Nellie Favro, Norman Bongard, George Hartmann, George di Bona and Rodney Sanden.

Joining them for the banquet were Maxon, Martindale, Martindale, Jr., Bongard, Hartmann, di Bona and Sanden.

Guests Carter, another in bed of his home and still wears a brace to support strained back muscles. Since the accident she has been trying to discover the names of the two young colored girls who first rushed to her aid, but has been unable to learn their identities, so asked that we attempt to thank them for her in the column. She also expresses appreciation to Edith Favro, who drove her to the hospital; to the hospital sionary work were shown when the Main Street Methodist Church Woman's Society of Christian Service held its general meeting Wednesday morning in Fellowship Hall.

Sign contract

A contract in the amount of $6,618.79 was signed Thursday between the American Legion and August Raunst, their building contractor, for 3 complete exterior refurbishing job on the legion hall on Beach Boulevard. Work is already underway to design and specifications of architect Fred Wagner. Present at signing are, from left, Raunst, Wagner and John Wilkinson, post commander, American Legion.

At HNC

More roof tests due

Additional tests are to be made on the roof at Hancock North Central School to ascertain the amount of roofing compound leakage actually taking place.

Underneath the roofing materials are slabs of a shaped vinyl type material known as toctum. If this material is badly damaged by a heavy impregnation of roofing compound, costs will increase as it will be necessary to replace the toctum or grind away damaged areas. If the impregnation is not too bad, the contractor may be able to strip away or seal back damaged areas prior to installing a new roof.

The request for a further examination of the actual prior to the awarding of any contract, was made by W.L. Rabey, district sales engineer, Huber, Dillman & Co., roofing materials suppliers, who met with county school trustees Saturday. He was accompanied by C.C. McDonald, Jr., the second low bidder on the job, and E.R. Dillman of Dillman Roof and Metal Works, who may ultimately be sub-contractor on the project.

Rabey also distributed a March statement on activity funds. The athletic account March 1 had a balance of $1,510.41. It received $300.00 from other bidding firms C.C. McDonald, Jr., Bay St. Louis, $34,372; James Travies, Bay St. Louis, $30,701.54; Ruth Compton, New Orleans, $41,240. All figures refer to base bid only.

Board president Edward Orth said he thought the additional inspection would be nothing but good for the community and the school funds for the job. He said the state Education Department may help an HNC to find funds to have the additional inspection done in preparation for any further overpayment insurance this fall.

and friends for their great kindness during the time this was injured.

Betty (Mrs. Fred) Roco is still having back trouble also, even though it's been a year since she had surgery for a ruptured disk.

Thanks, boys

The stalwart Sea Scouts, Steve Alain, Wylio Cole, David Whitman and Jack Collins, were generously rewarded for their good deed in assisting the owner of the houseboat which very nearly sank just off Waveland Beach on Easter Saturday. W.C. (Bill) Hall of 76 Marilyn Drive, New Orleans, enclosed a very nice check for the Sea Scouts in a letter addressed to Stephen's father, Van Alain. He stated that without the tremendous help of the boys, and all the others who assisted, the craft would have probably gone down; adding that he was too busy trying to pump the bilges to see everyone who pitched in, but sincerely thanks one and all.

Vivian and Sydney Prugue are due congratulations having celebrated their wedding anniversary on Friday, April 26.

It's good to see Mat (Mrs. Horace) Korgoski and about again. She is looking lovely despite the fact that she had major surgery just five weeks ago.

True to rumors to the effect that the Broadview is out of business, going out of business, etc., are absolutely untrue. Owner Jack Kay says he can well understand how they got started, as the place was more than just quiet when U.S. 90 brand streetcarers were at their worst, but with a new entrance, new parking area, and the good old almost-summertime, business has about returned to normal.

Bob is lauded

Bob Hubbard is quite the man of the year at North Central. Not only did the staff of the year book dedicate the '67-'68 addition to our Bob, but he was also further honored with a handsome engraved plaque at the 50th Reunion of the school class of 1918 on Saturday night. Presented with this by the Echo's Novello Club, more familiarly known as Juke.

With the fish

Last week's low tides were just made for flounders who didn't mind the chill breezes. Just a boy who picked up some nice ones included Eddie Marquez, Bob O'Neill, Sam Jimmerson and of course, Teddo Thomas.

Bella (Mrs. Clem) Ponroco gets a high praise for being better with fish. She has under treatment for an allergic reaction to a couple of conflicting pills.

Wanted-dogs

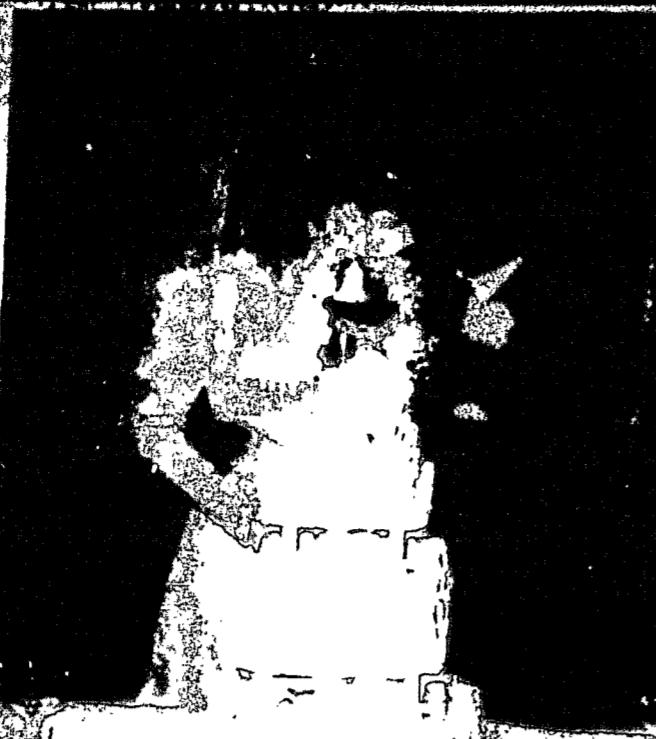

For weeks and weeks we've been finding houses for puppies and even an occasional kitten. Now it appears that the demand exceeds the supply. We have a request for a pair of beagle-type pups, a male and female and one loving friend doesn't ask for anything highly breed. Just a couple of friendly little mutts, who have a bit of breed strain somewhere in their ancestry. Anyone having such animals and wishing to find a good home for same, may phone 407-6424, and if Polly Peers is out, Lucy Lachland, who in actuality has two, will take any interested.

From Ireland

A visitor of note last week was Mrs. Pat Kearney of Dublin, Ireland, who was the guest of her daughter's mother-in-law, Loretta Nichols Mary, at 1018 Hancock Ave. home. She left Friday to spend some time with her daughter, Iris, husband Michael, and family in New Orleans.

A warm welcome to Waveland extended to Jan and Dick Dugan, son Mark, Jim Dugan, another potential customer at the service station, in addition to the Dugans.

Irvin Cutney, former Echo summer reporter, now on the news staff at WLOX tv, will take the final step on May 19 when he and pretty Janis Adams are to wed in Hattiesburg.

J.A.C. is reportedly going steady with a Stanislaus boarder.

Waveland Sea Scout troop got in some unopposed practices the Saturday before Easter. Steve Alain, Wylio Cole, David Whitman and Jack Collins spotted a houseboat which appeared to be having trouble not far off the Waveland sand beach near Lofto Drive. As they were notifying Tom Marshal Prod Bourgeois and Civil Defense Director Lucien Kidd, the craft became grounded upon the beach. On the boat were four members of a New Orleans family who had planned a weekend cruise, but reversed their course at Pass Christian when a stiff wind made the going too rough for comfort. About that time a Mississippi Marine conservation boat piloted by L.J. Fountain arrived on the scene and with the aid of much manpower, by then assembled on the beach, refloated the boat which Mr. Fountain towed back to Pass Christian harbor for motor repairs. As a reward for their help, the four Sea Scouts voyaged to the Pass on the houseboat.

The Nation Aeronautics and Space Administration recently decided to conduct the final cryogenic test on the Saturn V and not rocket stages likely to be used in flying astronauts. The S-II-3 stage was already Cape Kennedy when the decision was made, hence its piggy back mount to MTF. The return of obviously bad rocket content will start another milepost at MTF. It will be and first. A further increase in the number of rocket stages expected at the Cape this year. Its total would increase four times at one time the largest to date. The S-5 is to be static test fired early and the S-IC-6 early summer. The S-II-4 is on undergoing refurbishment and static test firing being shipped to Cape Kennedy. The S-II-6 is due to leave in late this month, heading west.
